Today's action concerned mainly marine insurance, since land property war risks were discontinued some time ago.

PRAGUE, Sept. 15.—Sudeten Leader Konrad Henlein demanded German annexation of Czechoslovakia's Sudeten area and the government further extended martial law to meet possible new disorders arising from the demand.

CHAMBERLAIN WELCOMED BY REICHFUEHRER

Premier Has Tea With Hitler Before Getting Down To Business

BERCHTSGADEN, Germany, Sept. 15.—Prime Minister Chamberlain came to Chancellor Hitler at his home today in a precedent-breaking personal effort to keep Europe out of war.

In the rain, Hitler welcomed at the entrance of his mountain retreat the British statesman who dashed from London by plane and train to speak for the British people on the Czechoslovak crisis.

SMILES BROADLY

Smiling broadly, looking deeply from a special train in this picture, the little Bavarian Alpine lord at 4:02 p.m. (8:02 a.m. M.S.T.)

His confident appearance imparted anything but a gloomy outlook to the tremendous task he faced in his conference with Hitler.

SURROUNDED BY AIDES

The rain which had fallen intermittently during the day poured down as Mr. Chamberlain moved slowly along the station platform. He was surrounded by German officials, S. S. (Blackshirt) Elite Guards, and police.

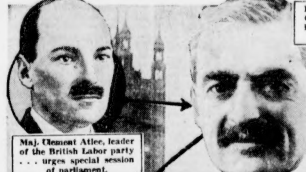

Despite the downpour, Mr. Chamberlain did not bother to raise his umbrella but carried over his arm.

Edmonton Firms Suffer Stolen Goods Racket: Police Make Roundup

Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador in Germany, talks with Hitler at Nuremberg, sending reports home.

Rounding up what police believe to be a well-organized stolen goods racket, Calgary officers are sending one man, arrested in that city, to Edmonton, to join a travelling salesman who appeared in city police court Tuesday on a charge of retaining possession of stolen goods and another man scheduled to make an appearance in court on the same charge.

Two others are held in Calgary for investigation.

Arrested in Calgary in a downtown hotel, Buster Clark, 36, will be returned to Edmonton where he is wanted in connection with a $200 robbery of the Great West Building company here two months ago.

Wilfred Nowell and Edward Fry, companions of Clark, were arrested. They are being held pending word from Edmonton.

Three Edmonton firms, the Great West Building, Thompson and Dwyer, were the firms victimized by the ring, say police. Goods recovered being identified by owners as the robbed firms as similar to those missing from their premises.

The travelling salesman, suspected of being the man who sold or disposed of the stolen goods, is to appear in Supreme Court September 26.

Others are believed implicated.

Henlein Declares Fates Lie At Door Of Czechoslovakia

By KONRAD HENLEIN
British Union Press, Exclusive Cable To The Bulletin.

PRAGUE, Sept. 15.—In Sudeten German territory there is reigning untamed terror of Czech military gendarmes and police. Czech civilians and Communists had been armed by the government. Yesterday there were twenty dead and more than 100 seriously hurt, and several hundred injured. Today all telephone communication is interrupted. All streets are occupied and barricaded by the military. Camouflaged mobilization is immediate service.

The Czech government has refused to answer inquiries. The Sudeten Germans insist with unbending resolution upon immediate cancellation of all Czech extraordinary measures. All responsibility for further developments in the country and beyond, whether it will lead to a new catastrophe, remains with the Czech government. Sudeten Germans have kept superhuman discipline and patience to the very last moment.

OTTAWA, Sept. 15.—The retirement of A. C. Osborne from the general ownership of the Bank of Canada, is intriguing the capital.

Mr. Osborne, who died a year or so ago, has one son in England, and is returning here.

The promotion of Donald Gordon to succeed Mr. Osborne is regarded with general satisfaction. Mr. Gordon is Scottish born but was a Canadian about age 13, and his career in finance partly paralleled that of the government. A brilliant youngster making good.

CITIES CLOSE SOUP KITCHENS OVER WEEDS

Service Will Not Be Continued As Unemployed Get Work

Soup kitchens in Edmonton and Calgary will be closed at the coming week-end and will not be re-opened, it was announced on Thursday by the Alberta Relief Commission. The men re-opened to receive attention at the soup kitchens are average for work-will be transferred to the camps if necessary.

Improved conditions providing opportunities for work and the resulting decrease in the number of unemployed have prompted the move.

There is no intention to operate when we have more unemployed men, said an official.

Another official stated: "In closing the soup kitchens, we are able to comply with requests from the federal government, the Commission, the Communist Party and the Trades Group."

It was pointed out that in this city there are practically no physically fit men in the soup kitchens, having all gone out to work. There are about 100 unemployed men, average or otherwise.

Corps Of Flying Doctors Proposed For Isolated Alberta Districts

Where Dictator And Prime Minister Meet

Suggestion Made By Dr. Enna Johnstone At Medical Group Parley

Calgary, Sept. 12.—Alberta may have a corps of "flying doctors" to serve outposts in isolated districts if a plan of Dr. Enna M. Johnstone of Wandering River, is adopted.

Establishment of a medical air service for outlying districts was advocated by Dr. Johnstone when she addressed the annual convention of the Alberta Division of the Canadian Medical Association here Wednesday.

PRIVATE EFFORT
"I am not advising the government," but simply suggesting a scheme which might be made available by private effort," she said.

"Many, especially among the new Canadians, do not consider the question of being able to reach a doctor or hospital when they go into a new district. It is quite difficult where doctors are badly needed," she added. "It is many times impossible to make a living."

Australia, Dr. Johnstone told the convention, has a medical air service, operated by the Island Mission of Presbyterian church.

CENTRAL HOSPITAL
The Australians have a central hospital, nursing outposts in the flying districts and a radio communication service.

In Alberta, already well equipped with an air service, the suggestion might be made to start the main air routes with a co-ordinated medical service, every settlement, particularly along the main air routes, could have a medical air service, the aerial doctor would make periodic visits to the isolated settlements.

Transportation difficulties encountered in isolated north country settlements were related by Dr. Johnstone.

On one occasion she had travelled through by freight train and automobile to reach a patient. The same journey was made in 45 minutes by airplane.

"I saw Hubert Wilkins, on his way to the Arctic," she said, "he passed overhead 45 minutes after leaving Edmonton."

Cross Announces Province To Aid
Min. Dr. W. W. Cross, minister of health and relief, announced Wednesday that the government would give 100 per cent co-operation to the church welfare plan to establish "flying" medical service to outlying settlements. "If any private organization would like to take the full co-operation from us," he said.

request sacrifice, to find a proper place in the Czech state.

"All our efforts to persuade the Czech people and its responsible leaders to make honorable and just compromises have failed because of their unreasonableness."

"In this hour of Sudeten German destiny I direct to you, the German people and the entire civilized world."

"We wish to live as free German men. We want to work in peace in our homes. We want to return to our homes in the Reich. God bless us in our just fight."

The speaker immediately began to study the proclamation at Prague and indicated an answer would be given, possibly this afternoon.

Meanwhile, the government dispatched more troops and tanks to suppress disorders in the Sudeten regions, the death of which was not yet fully known.

The figure of 32 was fixed by the government, while in publishing its tabulations only after careful consideration. It appeared certain that many lives were lost, and many more wounded in the fighting along the 135-mile Sudeten frontier.

Hitler Would Refuse Czech Population
ROME, Sept. 12.—Italian assurance was given today that Chancellor Hitler would not take the Czech population of Czechoslovakia even to a gift.

This was interpreted by some as an indirect effort to pressure the government to guarantee the integrity of their own frontier if they give up the Sudeten German area to the Reich.

The assurance, embodied in an answer to a question in the British House of Commons, was published in the paper, Il Popolo d'Italia, was underwritten by Benito Mussolini.

The letter was given a quasi-official character, and also was issued as a government communication.

WOULD DECLINE
The writer of this letter is a position to tell you—confidentially—that the government has offered 15,000,000 Czechs (there are about 10,000,000 Czechs and Slovaks in Czechoslovakia). Hitler would decline such a gift, but he would not refuse to consider it.

This could scarcely be given any other interpretation, diplomat said, that Hitler had secured Munich did not want the "Bohemia of tomorrow" and Mussolini had "mentally" transferred the assurance to Lord Runciman.

Defence Plans Of Canada Complete
By THOMAS WALLING
Ottawa, Sept. 12.—So far as the Canadian defence forces are concerned, the plan is complete. His defence plans practically complete, seven hundred Canadian factories would immediately turn over to munitions making.

The services would start recruiting for the army and navy. The military service act, 1917, under which conscription was enforced in the last war is still in effect. The act is described by the minister of justice as "a dead letter." It would have to be revised by parliament before it can be invoked.

Arguing plans, it is understood, have been used to speed up production and assembly.

Certain strategic moves are being made with existing R.C.A.F. squadrons.

There would be a demand in parliament for conscription of warships for a conscription of man-power.

Money will be called upon to finance the army and navy. Measures will be taken to eliminate profiteering.

Cadillac, Sask., Swept By Fire
MOOSE JAW, Sask., Sept. 12.—Damage estimated at $100,000 was done by fire which destroyed five stores in Cadillac, southwest of here, early today. Telephone poles were burned and cables destroyed, long distances communication between the town being cut off temporarily.

Peace—War

At almost the same time Chamberlain's train, King George arrived at Euston station from Birmmham, Scotland—the international train—had been turned back to return to London where it was unable to talk with the King before departing.

His two sons, on the vital trip with the premier, they were Sir Horace Wilson and William Strang, 43, head of the foreign office's central European department.

Body Of Trapper Is Found In River
PORT ST. JOHN, B.C., Sept. 12.—The body of G. W. Campbell, 70-year-old trapper, was found on September 13 by Mr. A. Richter on a boat in the Skeena river, not far from the mouth of Cache Creek.

"Automatic" Campbell, as the deceased was known, said his friends had lost the 185 lb. fat May and June, but he had not lost weight. Mr. Richter reported to the provincial police who brought the remains to Port St. John to be buried.

UP TO HITLER
The issue of peace or war will thus be put squarely up to the German leader.

The feeling among experienced observers here is that new negotiations will be opened up and that, for the time being, the threat of immediate war has been thrust into the background, although it is realized that the activities of Hitler, Mussolini, and the German government will make the present negotiations and conversations impossible if proceeding along the lines suggested by the British prime minister.

Seers Opine Hitler Will Lose Power
NEW YORK, Sept. 12.—Members of the International Association of Fortune Tellers, meeting Wednesday in third annual convention, prophesied Chamberlain's trial would lose power this year. "Due to some great catastrophe which will result in his fall."

Parliament will decide Canada's fate. The Globe and Mail in a front page editorial today demanded the premier should send Hitler to "count on us."

The view is taken here that British canoes, perfectly well equipped with arms, and that the Dominions will be able to defend themselves.

The government is taking action to meet the emergency of war. The fact that the minister of national defence and the chiefs of staff are in constant conference indicates the probable course of action.

At the same time no public pronouncement can be made by the government. It is pledged to decisions by parliament.

For the past few weeks practically the whole cabinet, in and out of Canada, has been informed of the progress of events.

under umbrellas, "heated" again and again.

Dr. Otto Meissner, chief of the chancery, greeted the prime minister at the station. Accompanying Mr. Chamberlain were Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, Sir Neville Henderson, British ambassador, Sir Horace Wilson and William Strang.

WASTED NO TIME
The party wasted no time. As the crowd cheered, Hitler's personal car, which Mr. Chamberlain left at the Grand hotel, where he will make his headquarters. Then, after a brief stop, the party drove the remaining eight miles to Hitler's home.

Originally Mr. Chamberlain had planned to fly to Munich by Freisinger airfield near Berchtesgaden, but inclement weather forced a change in plans and the party took a train from Munich, where Mr. Chamberlain landed by airplane from London.

As the prime minister reached the Chancellor's villa, a company of Hitler's personal S. S. body guards escorted him to his home.

INVITED TO TEA
Before getting down to business, the Führer invited the Prime Minister to have lunch at the hotel. The entire Chamberlain and Hitler entourage participated.

Nazi officials gathered here were still placed over the unexpected situation as a result of Mr. Chamberlain's dramatic appeal for a personal audience with Hitler. They were unprepared.

Even to guess what proposals Mr. Chamberlain might have brought to end the crisis.

It was the first time in his life the 65-year-old premier had flown and he passed through rain and fog over parts of France and Germany.

He arrived before the end of the dramatic 610-mile flight he was making.

"I am going to see the German chancellor because the situation seems to me to be one in which discussion between him and myself will be useful on which consequences will be great."

"The Führer's reply to my suggestion encourages me to hope that my visit to him will not be without results."

Some quarters said the United States ambassador, Joseph P. Kennedy, had conveyed to Chamberlain the fact he had the moral support of United States.

Aberhart

Illatton have been diagnosed for the official use of your government. You are aware of the circumstances in which the government was obliged to withhold its recognition of the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial Relations as a proper court of inquiry. It has been the constant policy of the government that both the personnel and terms of reference of the commission rendered it useless for all practical purposes.

As part of other considerations, at least two members of the commission have been better informed of the economic conditions fundamental in any case which this government could submit.

PREJUDICED
"A court so strongly prejudiced against Alberta case would not have been acceptable to this government in any circumstances; but when it was evident that the personnel of the commission as a whole and the terms of reference under which they were appointed were such as to render the commission's submissions or, for that matter, any submissions which went to the root cause of our national trouble, from receiving proper consideration, the government was obliged to decline to associate itself in any way with the commission."

"This has been in answering the attitude of this government and subsequent events have merely served to strengthen our position in the Commission. This government is not submitting the province's case to this body, and we are of the definite opinion that no useful purpose can be served by such action on the part of your government. It is the view of this government that, far from the Commission serving any useful purpose, it is likely to jeopordize an already critical national situation."

"Believing that the urgent need at the present time is direct economic and financial action based on a consolidation of confederation which will yield to the national unity, this government is submitting Alberta's case to the people of Canada, and their several governments as a first step to secure impartial consideration, free from the influence of vested interests, to the grave issues which confront our country and this province."

SOLUTION
"We earnestly hope that this case, so prepared as will be considered in the spirit in which it is being presented and that it will contribute materially to a solution of the problems which so seriously affect Canada."

Red Star said, is "using Czecholovakia as small change for a bargain with Hitler."

They are Sir Horace John Wilson, who knew "the old boss" in the civil service and the man "who broke the general strike in 1926" and William Strickland, 65, one of the foreign office's central European desk men.

Sir Horace—"H.J." is one who knows him, is considered the prime minister's personal brain trust. His views, especially, have more influence on Mr. Chamberlain than any other person, although he is almost unknown in the main in the street.

Slipped, with the loss of a leg and the mind and training of an economist, Sir Horace entered the civil service in 1905.

Two years ago he was drafted "for personal service to the prime minister."

Before becoming a right hand man to Prime Minister Baldwin, and later to Mr. Chamberlain, Lord Balfour's successor, Sir Horace was a general utility man in government affairs. # Kitchen Gadgets Take Grind Out Of Cooking

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX
There's a new gadget born every minute.
Now comes a new kitchen mixer that chops, grates and grinds raw and cooked meats, vegetables and fruits. It is inexpensive and will serve in place of the larger and heavier food grinder until the budget gets stronger.

This small sized mixer looks like a food strainer. It has two circular feet with suction cups that hold it for dear life to the table. It has a long holding handle and another curved handle attached to the cutting blade.

Underneath the bottom of the container, adjust the cutting blade according to the consistency of the food to be ground.

RUST AND ACID RESISTANT

To use, cut food into small pieces, turn blade handle forward and backward in short movements—and presto, on to the plate below drop your ground and minced foods. This gadget is rust and acid resistant, easy to clean and does a good grinding job for its size and low cost. If your life in the kitchen is just a series of mashings, straining, and mincing, you'll want this new food mill. It works on the same principle as the kitchen mincer just mentioned. By turning the handle which controls the cutting blade, you work on the food in the round container compartment and soon it falls through into the saucerpan.

NEW ICE CHOPPER

And if your passion for little gadgets is not yet satisfied, start in breaking up ice cubes with the new "jumped up and down" ice picker which chops up cubes right into the glass but never breaks the glass. It looks like a regular ice pick, but with these important differences—there are 3 sharp points arranged in the pick head in such a way that they touch all the ice cubes at the same time and breaking it into tiny pieces without breaking even a very thin glass.

This gadget has a steel handle and bronze spring in the handle. So to chop your ice cubes, very little pressure is needed. The handle has another use-up. It is printed as very popular cocktail pencils.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Sliced bananas in orange juice, bacon waffles, tangerine marmalade, coffee, milk.
LUNCHEON: Salmon, celery and green pepper salad, mayonnaise, half baked chicken, sliced peas, tea, milk.
DINNER: Tomato and clam juice cocktail, creamed cod fish with egg and potatoes, family style, string beans, hard sauce, coffee, milk.

Minute Make-Ups

By V. V.

All-purpose cream is very valuable to the woman who travels a lot. Or to the business girl whose dress-drawers spare no thought. You can always find space for one small jar—especially when it contains a cream equally efficient for cleansing, for hands and for powder base, out.

Well, Cadeo, I hope that you are all ready, or getting ready, for the Air Race. Remember, the British American Oil Co. are presenting a silver cup and a gold watch as the two prize features for the boys who have the best planes.

But that is only part of it and the list of prizes is growing daily. They range all the way from a short wave radio that will enable you to tune in northern airplanes to a jack knife that will come in handy when you make new models.

Now that you have your planes — I know that more than 500 of you have got them already — you will realize that it was not kidding when I told you that fine value they were. And those of you who have flown your planes will have discovered that the plane is a dandy. And if your dad uses R. A. Oil and gasoline in his car, he'll tell you that it really gives plenty of miles and finer performance for the money.

I was talking to Jimmy Allen just the other day and he told me that that plane is just about the finest thing he ever saw. It is fast and smooth looking, and flies just like a real plane. It is the finest job of a model I ever saw," he said. "I am proud to have it known as the Jimmy Allen plane."

And there is still time to enter. There are ten days left — time to build a plane if you really hurry — so if you want to get one of those prizes, then get right out and rush to the nearest R. A. Service station. And don't forget to keep September 23 clear so that you can go to the Air Races.

DRAGONFLIES NEVER STING PEOPLE

The common gnat-winged dragonflies, sometimes called flying adeers or snakeflies, are perfectly harmless and cannot sting people. Dragonflies are charged with many foolish things, such as, for instance, sewing up children's ears and serving as "Devil's darning needles." These innocent insects live about streams and lakes and consume great numbers of mosquitoes, gnats and other small insects. They fly either forward or backward without turning. They are our friends, and should not be killed.

OLIVIA LIKES TO HUNT QUAIL... THE TWO PLAY TENNIS TOGETHER... JOAN USUALLY WINS

By BILL PORTER and GEORGE SCARBO

Sisters in everything but name, Joan Fontaine and Olivia de Havilland are both stars. Joan changed her name to Fontaine so as not to play on her sister's name. Joan is 29 years old and Olivia is 28. Both were born in Tokyo, Japan. Olivia came to U.S. because of Joan's fragile health. Joan wanted to be a painter. The training was too hard on her health. Olivia was ambitious to be a school teacher, but she was chosen for a part in Max Reinhardt's production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream." It resulted in a movie contract. Joan was discovered for the movie the first night of her first play in Hollywood. They live together with their mother in a home in Beverly Hills. Joan is also bound with Conrad Nagel.

William Hocking Prescott, American man of letters, gave himself time to erupt up to 20 on being awakened in the morning. If he failed to arise on that count, he paid a bonus to the servant who had roused him.

"Hapsburg Curse" Strikes Through Highway Wreck

The Social Gospel... Conspiracy Against the Poor

By REV. C. F. BRADLEY

ANY movement that seeks to benefit the common man, is usually branded "not respectable." The reformers in every age, were "not respectable." That is the very clever policy of the exploiters. In his day, the "nicest people" thought Jesus "not respectable."

"A gluttonous man and a wine-bibber, a friend of publicans and sinners." He received sinners, and eat with them. No doubt, Jesus enjoyed a brief period of respectability between the time that he betrayed Jesus, and the time he hung himself. Christianity for the most part took its roots among the poor. Anyone who wanted to keep his nose in "the city," had to carefully avoid the Christians.

Jesus was crucified by the stock market people, but, the irony of the situation is that in the succeeding generations, the stock market ruled. Jesus was crucified by the "sinners," the powerful people, the "sinners" were crucified. The same people crucify Jesus again in every new age. They are doing it now. I can see a very close analogy between this crusade for social justice, and the upstart of the early church.

I believe sincerely that no crusade was ever nearer the heart of Jesus than this crusade for Christian economy. I can see a new world being born. For the first time in history, people will be free from the fear of insecurity. There will be no incentive to hoard. Man's creative instinct will be set free, he will be free to create, for the first time in history. The old conspiracy against the poor will be no more.

ABUSE MUST CEASE
This abuse of the "unrespectable" must cease. The conspiracy of the powerful against the weak of the healthy against the sick, against the honest against the dishonest, against the unlearned, will have passed forever. The educated man will not be a man of knowledge, and not merely a man of learning. The new way was based on a primitive, avary struggle for power. The new "power" will have a refined meaning. The chief among us will be the man who serves. NOT the man who exploits.

In the Dark Ages, when there was little or no communication between East and West, the same innovation in art, the same new thought, came in East and West at the same time. This is what some historians call "the divine inspiration." There is no monopoly of new thought.

REV. C. F. BRADLEY

used to think, in fact, I was taught, that all new thought came from lowering personalities; and that the values of the people were led into the new world against their will. After many years of hard reading, and more hard thinking, I realize that the reverse is more true.

DIVINE EFFLUENT

The divine effluent comes from the people. Riches, power and success mean not childlike, and they resist the Spirit of God. "Blessed be ye poor," Jesus said. The poor man was better informed on modern problems than his leaders. Anyone who has ever lived in the slums for the grounds for new economic realities. The man who did with work and sweat has a better grip of modern trends than has the man who has made money. The "important" people have been too busy getting rich, they have got on and satisfied. It is very difficult to reason with these people.

New-Old Way

An interesting comparison between the old and new at the hair-dressers show in Detroit, demonstrating that the new wears quite a lot to the old. Shown here are two views of the most modern coiffure and the old style of hairdress from which it was developed. At LEFT (TOP) Miss Albright Noble has her hair done in the style of a decade or two ago by, at RIGHT, Miss Lee Cahill's blonde locks are done in the new version of the old mode. BELOW are side views of the same coiffure. Miss Noble's hair is gray; Miss Cahill's a golden blonde.

Leaders

As Germany began its greatest war maneuvers, placing the entire nation on a war-time basis, General Milch, right hand man of German military forces, was pictured greeting General Vulliamy, chief of the French air staff on the latter's arrival in Berlin.

CHAPTER XV—Conclusion
"Yes, sir—it is the boy and the maid!" Uncle Sandy exclaimed as the golden chestnut and the dark bay filly shot out from the pack. "Hooray! Three lengths ahead of the field. The first quarter—the watch clicked in his hand—it'll be in 22 furlongs' racing!"

Down the long backstretch those two horses fought eye to eye—the field far behind. Now they were going into the far turn. Uncle Sandy pocketed his watch. "Yes, sir—Marford's coming up a bit!"

They were coming into the stretch. The grandstand crowded with humanity, let out a great roar. "Look! Look! Linda grabbed her uncle's arm. They were running wide into the stretch—Golden Sandy was beating out, carrying the maid with him. "That darn editor Sandy Gordon has been, then changed his tune. "Hope Marford's not here, they just went out a little way—they came home in the middle of the track!"

Down the last furlongs the colt and the filly pounded—neck and neck. "Uncle Sandy—Uncle Sandy! Come on!" In excitement Linda cried the towncrier's cry, started toward the finish line. He ran with her, Norman trailing alongside. Linda, just behind, carrying the finish! Norman shouted, as the pair hurtled into historical glory. A great golden chestnut—a dark bay—they shot under the wire together—close on a line.

Uncle Sandy shouted: "Dare it! I don't afraid!" He didn't finish the thought.

"Uncle Sandy—did we win—did we win?" Linda asked, as the remainder of the Gold gelding, past the finish. Sandy Gordon shook his head doubtfully. "I don't know—it was a matter of inches. Look—the sign!"

A sign flashed from the bulletin board.

PHOTOGRAPH FINISH
The judges. "Uncle Sandy said the picture—look from top of the grandstand. The sign which now flashed from the bulletin board—see the sign. The wire that was a minute for high-speed camera to be taken. He led her to the vacant winners circle, by the judge's stand. A moment the horses would enter back, the jockeys neck out.

A hotting snarl overhead—a snarl, snarl and down a rushing from the grandstand to the judges, the first picture. With her hand pointing furiously, Linda saw the judge take it out—look at it—nod—reassured. The snarl judge pushed a button.

A light flashed on the bulletin board.

RESULT
No. 1 Golden Toy won.
"Well—that's official yet!" Uncle Sandy said, as Linda ran, exclaiming to him. "Who's that could there be?" she broke off, as she saw Miss Hill and the girl going to the judges' stand. Mary Maud as the filly galloped back the new Monte grey, his jockey's shoulder, head, but leave loose.
